

GARNER APPROVES SALES TAX TO AID BALANCING BUDGET

LEADERS OF CONGRESS AT-TEMPT TO RALLY FORCES
AT SATURDAY SESSION

WASHINGTON, Mar. 19. (P)—With party leaders pleading for support of the billion dollar revenue bill, the house today adjourned after scenes of disorder.

The house quit after opponents to the sales tax again had bowed over the party leaders on a major issue of the bill. Acting Chairman Crisp of the ways and means committee, sponsor of the bill, took the floor and told the house it was in no proper frame of mind to legislate and needed time to cool off. Representative Rainey of Illinois, the democratic leader, went into the well of the house and urged the members to keep order and support the bill in the interest of the country.

He concluded with the assertion, however, that it was necessary to adjourn the house to bring to it the realization of what it was doing.

"This house, I realize is a run-away house," Rainey said. "He added that it had 'made a longer step toward communism than any other nation but Russia' in levying the high surtaxes yesterday."

"To balance the budget and you'll make all those expenditures for reconstruction absolutely useless," he said.

"There is only one worse step you can take than the excessive income taxes and that is the step they took in Russia to eliminate 'wealth'."

"If you want to do that let's bring in a bill to do it courageously and not hide behind the tax bill."

Representative Doughton (D., N. C.), a leader of the opponents of the sales tax, said: "Let's adjourn and come back next week thinking sensibly and without this feeling of rebellion and get to work on a program."

After Doughton concluded, Crisp made a motion to adjourn out a score of members arose and demanded recognition. Garner, however, recognized Crisp and the house adjourned.

WASHINGTON, Mar. 19.—(P)—Open revolt against the democratic leadership was voiced on the house floor today in the form of a statement by Speaker Garner that he would support the sales tax provisions of the new revenue bill.

The speaker's views were made clear in a statement issued shortly before debate opened. In it he endorsed the bill brought out by the ways and means committee and said he was ready to support every provision of the bill held for the financial salvation of the country.

A little later Representative Fuller, democratic Arkansas, said in debate the democratic leadership would continue to follow their present course of opposition to the leadership "just as long as this committee and 10 or 15 democrats on this side follow the secretary of the treasury."

"We are going to pursue this course just as long as it is necessary to defeat this sales tax," he said.

"We don't need a leader; we have the votes."

He had hardly settled back into his seat before the house struck out of the revenue bill a provision which would exempt from taxation money paid by Americans to foreign governments in income taxes. The vote was 171 to 91.

WASHINGTON, March 19.—(P)—Speaker Garner today gave his full endorsement to the new revenue bill and the manufacturers sales tax provision.

The Texas democrat said the surest, soundest and most effective means of balancing the budget, adopted the sales tax "after prolonged and exhaustive deliberation."

Garner's statement was handed out at his regular conference with newspapermen shortly before the house convened for its second day of reading of the bill for amendment.

Confronted by the victories of bi-partisan opponents of the sales tax in writing into the revenue bill yesterday heavy increases in surtaxes and high bracket incomes, the leaders of both parties today were seeking to realign their forces.

House Leaders Hope
Rescue Sales Tax

WASHINGTON, Mar. 19.—(P)—With broken ranks, house leaders fought an uphill battle today to rescue the billion dollar revenue bill from the determined, and so far successful, attacks by opponents of the sales tax.

The slow process of approving or amending each provision in the bill, line by line, was resumed by the house. At the first 40 pages of nearly 300 had been acted on. The center of controversy, the manufacturers' excise or sales tax still was 200 pages away.

Two important factors had entered the situation since the close of yesterday's session.

Speaker Garner, issuing a statement appealing for passage of a revenue bill that would balance the 1933 budget, observed that at a time like this the usual method of raising the revenue became "inconsequential and insignificant," and that "how best to do it is debatable."

Anti-sales tax men pounced on the statement as a sign that the democratic chieftain himself was ready to ditch the key point in the ways and means committee proposal. On the contrary, the measure's supporters contended he was emphasizing the unimportance in relation to the budget crisis of the issue which has writhed the house into glamorous dissension.

The second factor was a three-hour, resultless, republican caucus last night. It was held at the demand of the insurgent group which sought to capture a majority of the party's voting strength in the house. Republican Floor Leader Snell issued from the meeting with a declaration that a majority of his party would support the measure as it stands but that a lot of democratic votes would be needed to win. Representative LaGuardia of New York, leader of the revolt, predicted there would be no more claims as to the number of votes available for the sales tax, indicating a belief his forces had made inroads on the republican regular strength.

LaGuardia will seek, he said, to have the estate taxes raised to compare with the war-time surtaxes put into the bill yesterday in the first break against the leaders.

Navarro County People Enjoy Visit To Southwest Texas

A very pleasant visit was reported by Mr. R. C. Jenkins and Mrs. M. J. Kimes, all of Kerens and Miss Lorena Stringer of Corsicana, who have just returned from a visit and business trip to Harlingen, where they visited their aunt, Mrs. Ethel Nowlin and their cousin, Mrs. Justice, formerly Miss Geneva Nowlin of Kerens. They reported that the weather in contrast to what we are having in Corsicana, was warm and the sun shining during the whole week they were there.

On Saturday, the 27th, a very interesting visit was made to Matamoros, Mexico. A visit was made to an old Catholic cathedral at 6 p. m. during the hour of mass and all felt the reverence of the occasion. Another interesting and famous place was the cemetery where the vaults were built large enough for whole families with opening on each side for the body.

Miss Stringer also gave an interesting report of the music in their old dance hall which she and her sister, Mrs. Justice, and their cousin, Mrs. Nowlin and Mrs. Justice, and a friend, Mr. Pat Handson visited.

On Sunday, the 28th, a large crowd of friends and relatives visited at the home of Mrs. Nowlin where visitors were met and then a trip to Fort Isabel was made by all present. About 7 p. m. Sunday a small group crossed the channel to an island at the Gulf of Mexico, and Miss Stringer reported that one of the outstanding points in her trip was the experience of guiding the motor boat about three miles over waves.

EARLY HISTORY OF FIRST METHODIST CHURCH RECALLED

REMODELED EDIFICE WAS ERECTED IN 1896; ON ORIGINAL LAND GRANT

Formal opening of the newly decorated and renovated First Methodist church, which had its Sunday morning, recalled many interesting bits of historical data relative to the church and others in and around Corsicana. The minister of Judge C. L. Jester, Saturday.

According to Judge Jester, the first church was built on the present site in 1871, a wooden structure, and was replaced by the present edifice in 1896. The church was built by Rev. Horace Bishop, and the original church was completed in time for the first state democratic convention in Texas after the Civil War. Mr. Jester said that it was through the democratic candidates who were nominated in Corsicana that the "carpet-bag" government was wrestled from the republican party. The nominee was Richard Coke, who was elected.

Another peculiar incident of the convention, Judge Jester explained, was that Roger Q. Mills, father of Major Charles H. Mills, now living in Corsicana, and H. H. Willie, of Galveston, father of A. H. Willie, of Corsicana, were nominated as candidates at large, and were both elected.

This convention was referred to as the "Flea Convention," as at that time there was no hog law, and the fleas from the hog pens which wallowed under the building, were a continual source of annoyance to the delegates.

The old bell, which will call church together Sunday for the first time in several years, was first installed in the old original church, and later transferred to the new one. The exact date the old bell was installed is not definitely known.

Judge Jester further stated the property the church is now on, was obtained from the original town commissioners about 1851. The title of 100 acres of land now covered by the city, was deeded to the commissioners, and sold by them to defray the expenses of the city, except in cases of giving land to churches, and other public enterprises.

The first church in the city was built by the Cumberland Presbyterian denomination, sometime in the fifties, and other denominations were permitted to worship there. Prior to that time church was held in the old log court house. The Methodists, worshippers in the old "McKinney Tavern."

McKinney, who came to Texas in 1847 was the first local preacher. Judge Jester pointed out that the first regular Methodist preacher in this section of the country, was Rev. David Rose, who preached around the Dresden circuit, and later in Corsicana on a circuit.

Opposition to Any War Debt Cuts Stressed

WASHINGTON, Mar. 18.—(P)—The storm which swept the senate yesterday after its members read a newspaper story to the effect that Ambassador Mellon was going to reopen war debt negotiations as soon as he reached London, was given its final and official quietus last night by the state department.

The formal statement by the department pronounced there was no truth whatever in the article, and that none of the senate remarks made on the basis of it had any foundation whatsoever. Not result of the incident was a reassertion of congressional opposition to any plan for scaling down the war obligations of foreign nations to the United States.

M'ADOO SAYS NO NEW YORKER HAS ELECTION CHANCE

SAN ANTONIO, March 18.—(P)—William G. McAdoo, secretary of the treasury under Woodrow Wilson, told South Texas democrats last night that the party would make a mistake if it nominated a New Yorker.

Visiting in a state which supported him for the presidential election several years ago, McAdoo praised Speaker John Garner, Texas' candidate for the presidency.

"I am very happy to support Garner as the democratic nominee for president," the wartime secretary of the treasury said. "In his present position as speaker, he has been faced with almost a superhuman task, keeping a wild and woolly majority of only three members well in hand, very hard to believe any other man could have done it."

"California has a loud and vociferous group of Garner supporters, and I am sure that you right now that California is going to send a delegation for Garner to the Chicago conventions."

Navarro Study Club Held An Interesting
Session Wednesday

NAVARRO, March 18.—(Spl.)—The Navarro Study club held a very interesting session Wednesday when they met in the home of Mr. H. E. Smith, Sr.

Texas Artists was the subject for discussion. Miss Gladys Westmoreland gave an interesting discussion of Texas Painters, followed by Mrs. E. E. Cowser who talked on Texas Sculptors. Miss Irma Smith next gave a survey of Texas Musicians.

After this, business was attended to and the year books were distributed.

It being Mrs. Smith's birthday she was happily surprised when the members presented her a beautiful picture of a blue bonnet field. The idea of a blue bonnet picture was very unique due to the fact that the club flower is the Texas Bluebonnet.

Mrs. O. E. Cowser read a very pretty poem, "Friendship Will Never Die."

After this the guests repaired to the dining room where they were served refreshments of sandwiches, apple salad, hot chocolate and whipped cream.

Mrs. O. E. Cowser and Hester Parks will be club hostesses next meeting.

HIGHWAY EAST FROM CORSICANA TO BE 20 FOOT WIDE CONCRETE

STRETCH FROM CORSICANA
THROUGH POWELL EXPECT-ED BE CONTRACTED SOON

Highway 31 east from Corsicana will be 20-foot concrete pavement instead of 18-foot slab as originally planned by the state engineers. M. L. Bowers, resident state highway engineer, announced here Saturday morning. The contract for the pavement of this highway from Corsicana to the consolidated road district No. 1 boundary line two miles east of Powell will probably be awarded at the April-May session of the State highway commission. The plans will be sent in within the next few days. Local engineers are rushing the plans for the pavement from the district line east to the Trinity river bridge on this highway while it is understood the plans and specifications for this highway from Trinity river east have already been completed and sent to the State highway department at Austin.

The road work in Navarro county has been rushed this week during the favorable weather. About two miles of Highway 31 from the Navarro-Freestone county line have been poured and this work will be rushed with the favorable weather.

The F. McElwraith Construction company completed the sixteenth mile of 20-foot pavement on Highway 75 north of Corsicana, connecting the 20-foot pavement from the Trinity river bridge to the North Beaton street tie-in road finished a few days ago from the Highway 75 to the L. T. Davis corner.

This section of road will be opened within about 15 days, giving a concrete highway from Corsicana to Ennis, and alleviating the necessity of the highway 75 traffic using the lateral road via Emhouse to Ennis. Highway 75 is opened for traffic from Corsicana south to Houston and Galveston and has been in use for some time. This gives an all-weather and concrete road from Ennis to Galveston with two short exceptions which have been gravelled.

Plans and specifications for dirt and drainage structures on Highway 22 from a point near the present intersection of the state Home-Corsicana and Blooming Grove road and the district line near Pinkston will be sent into the state highway department soon. Engineers are working on the securing of the right-of-way for this road.

The placing of the sand cushion on the three-mile gap in Highway 14 in Freestone county, which sector, has practically been completed and it is expected the F. P. McElwraith construction company will get a work order in the near future for the concrete slab during April. The contract was awarded to the McElwraith company some time ago.

The Standard Paving company is pouring the 10-foot concrete slab on the Corsicana-Ward bridge lateral road in the vicinity of Retreat.

Properties Here
Yet Consumated

HOUSTON, Mar. 18.—(P)—The Humble Oil and Refining company has received a number of bids for purchase of its properties in the Powell oil field near Corsicana. William Finnegan, assistant to President W. S. Farish, revealed today.

"We haven't posted the properties for sale," Mr. Finnegan said, "but there have been a number of bids made to us. It is not known when anything conclusive will be done in the matter."

He preferred not revealing, he said, the names of the bidders or the prices involved, or whether other bids would be accepted.

Some 800 barrels per day are produced from the Humble's properties in the field.

The central committee is composed of J. N. Edens, J. O. Burke and Sydney Marks.

How to Escape
FLU
And Grippe

Avoid so far as possible the places where germs are most likely to be spread; overcrowded cars and public meeting places; overheated, stuffy rooms.

Be careful of close contact with others and beware of all coughers and sneezers; breathe through the nose, get fresh air, but avoid drafts or chilling.

Get lots of rest. Drink plenty of water. Keep the bowels open. Take extra precaution to keep in good physical condition, so your system will have normal resistance against germs.

Try, particularly, to avoid catching cold. Colds lower your resistance to disease germs. At the first sign of any cold, take Bayer Aspirin; remain indoors if possible until your cold is gone. And if you have a sore throat, dissolve some Bayer Aspirin tablets in water and gargle; this relieves the soreness, and it usually reduces the inflammation.

If you have any reason to suspect even a touch of flu, call your doctor at once.

CORSICANA, TEX., MAR. 22, 1931

HOOVER, BUSINESS MAN, FAILS AS PRESIDENT

"The President," with the sub-title, "A Business Man in the White House," is the caption of an article in the March issue of the Atlantic Monthly, which reviews Mr. Hoover's successful business career and analyzes his political philosophy and activities. The deduction is drawn therefrom that Mr. Hoover's lack of success as a political Chief Executive is due to a lack of training, experience and understanding of the functions of the office.

The writer, however, puts the chief blame upon the people who elected the Republican candidate in 1928 and then "turned for the first time to examine him for what he really was. If they were disappointed in what they saw," the writer continues, "who was to blame? Mr. Hoover as President has been betrayed by fortune. He has been betrayed in part, perhaps, by the defects of his own character. But chiefly, I think, he has been betrayed by the shallowness of the people who returned him to power, who created him in an image for which there was no basis, and who then demanded that he work miracles for which he was fitted, as they might easily have known, neither by temperament, by inclination, nor by experience."

Noting that, after the close of the war political opponents began to criticize some members of the Wilson administration, the writer adds, "But Mr. Hoover had never been in politics; he had no political opponents. No one even knew whether he was a Democrat or a Republican; they could not, since he did not know himself. The fact only endeared him to a public suddenly seeing new visions above the chaos of the war's end. . . . The fact that no one really knew anything about him only added to his peculiar availability."

When the question of Mr. Hoover's eligibility under the 14 years' residential clause of the Constitution was raised, "Nobody knew what Mr. Hoover had really been doing or where he had been living during the earlier part of the preceding 14 years. It did not matter."

The 1920 Hoover candidacy persisted among members of both parties "until Mr. Hoover decided too soon which party he belonged to, and the managers of both were able to dismiss him with a sigh of relief. The ineptness might have been suggestive."

Mr. Millis quotes from Mr. Hoover's speech at Newark in 1928 in which he proclaimed that due to increased efficiency hundreds of thousands of persons had been transferred from the factories to our expanding insurance and banking, and other hundreds of thousands to filling stations, garages, hotels and restaurants, and a half million families finding occupation in increased exports of goods, etc., all of which Mr. Hoover declared to be proof of real progress and the road to the abolition of poverty. The Atlantic Monthly writer then says:

"Here was the marvelous tool lying ready to the hand of government. One need only promote business process and every governmental problem would solve itself. Upon this promise Mr. Hoover was duly elected; he was installed in office; the 'new day' which he had proclaimed was about to begin. Unfortunately, seven months after he had taken the Presidential oath a new day did begin. The bottom fell out of the business structure."

How did Mr. Hoover meet the situation?
"Mr. Hoover behaved exactly as anyone who had given two thoughts to his campaign speeches might have expected him to behave. . . . When the slump came he turned desperately to promote business. . . . He endeavored to peg wages, to keep up prices, to re-establish 'confidence' and create 'psychology.' He issued optimistic statements. . . . Not well grounded in fact," but the writer declares, "It was inherently impossible to cure the ills of the business system by promoting the system itself."

"Perhaps after all it is not the chief function of government to promote business," he adds. "Perhaps its only function is to govern. . . . But Mr. Hoover had no political training, and he did not know how to work the machine. . . .
Unable to utilize the ordinary tools of the trade—very naturally, since one reason for his election was the fact that he had never been trained to do so."

On Mr. Hoover's foreign policy, the writer comments as follows:

"At the London Naval Conference, at the League headquarters in Geneva, in Manchuria, in Washington when the visiting statesmen came, American policy has seemed divided and inconsistent, because the President is striving in one direction while his more nationalist people continue in the other. . . . the division is dangerous for Mr. Hoover, if not for the country, but the President prefers to ignore it, if, indeed, he realizes that it exists."

The final conclusions of the writer are:
That "the defects, if defects they be, in Mr. Hoover's conduct of the Presidency are hardly chargeable to Mr. Hoover himself, for there is none of them which might not have been quite clearly foreseen from his record."

That "Mr. Hoover was simply not well qualified for the public post to which he was elevated. It was too easily assumed that his lack of political experience made him the ideal candidate for political office; or —by an even stranger aberration—that since technical experts have achieved so much, we should put into the Presidency a man who knew nothing of its technique."

That "one may doubt whether the American people will very soon repeat the experiment of placing their chief magistracy in the politically inexperienced hands of a comparatively unknown man of business."

cessory to scrape the toast, at a slight extra charge.

The First Crocus!

---By Clive Weed

BAD MEN AND GOOD.

Nothing that has happened since the blowup of Mr.
Coolidge's New Economic Era has shocked the complacency of conservative minds so as Colonel Lind-bergh's decision to rely on the help of the underworld for the return of his little son. Every few hours a politician or a politicianette rises somewhere to ask shrilly what the world is coming to.

Why should they ask?
The prospect is pretty clear.
Kidnaping has come along swiftly as a first-class racket in the series inspired by a growing disrespect of law that can be traced directly to too much legislation.
Where there is too much law there is, of necessity, too little enforcement. Where there is too little enforcement there is, quite inevitably, too little respect for all legal authority. Police charged with the duty of prohibition enforcement always seem as helpless as Colonel Schwarzkopf's bewildered troopers at Hopewell. Adventurers after easy money have merely concluded that anything is possible in the wonderland we call the United States.

It isn't surprising that, having learned to take most law and most police lightly, organized racketeers have few fears left. And since they know the degree to which politics eagerly involves itself with bootleggers for a share of the profits, the underworld's leading personages are even beginning to feel that they themselves have reasons to complain loudly against the nasty things generally said of them. Are political "leaders" the only ones who may commit crime with impunity? Is that precious right to be denied the ambitious private citizen?

Some such query as that may be put boldly to the country before we are much older.
It seems plain, for example, that the great Spi-tale and the earnest Mr.
Bitz, off now to comb the gang hangouts for traces of little Charles, have given all racketeers a kind of virtuous thrill. Colonel Lind-bergh's friends and advisers knew what they were about when they accepted the help of these two silent and mysterious gentlemen. The police were going in circles.
That is something that a professional in racketeering never does.

POSTAL SAVINGS GROW.

When the depression with its bank failures and hoard-ings of money has become history economists will look back and credit the postal savings with having played an important role during the period of near financial panic.

Postal savings have had a hand in limiting the hoarding of money and in keeping money in circulation, for funds deposited in postal savings are not withdrawn from circulation and forced into unprofitable idleness, nor are they net subtractions from the net resources of banks. Money deposited in postal savings is placed by Uncle Sam in the country's banks.

When the postal savings system was inaugurated 21 years ago it was conceived as an instrument of thrift.
The depositing of $592,000, 000 in postal savings accounts last year (total deposits in 1930 were only $164,000,000) demonstrated the capacity of the system for emergency service. It has checked hoarding, strengthened banks, provided a safe depository enjoying public confidence and steadied the ship of finance.

The fact that the rush of deposits last year caught the postal savings division of the postoffice department short handed is sufficient evidence that the government had not foreseen the part the postal savings would play in the present emergency. The growth of deposits since 1929 has exceeded the wildest dreams of the creators of the system, who were primarily interested in fostering thrift among the masses.

ture—in a tyle, you might say, grand enough for a Tammany police official. No one knows where his money comes from. Clearly he is not stupid, whatever else he may be. In this instance he looms consciously as a symbol of chivalry, nothing less. Would he take money? Not on your life, says he. His heart is touched.

Naturally, the world of racketeers is filled with pride. Its good points are to be made clear at last. Its people are benefactors of humanity! Spitale will show them! Spitale may yet have a song written about him and for all we know, a monument.

reported slowly improving from an operation on March 8th in the Wesley hospital, at Eleventh and Harrison streets, Kansas City, Mo., and would like to receive letters and cards from her Corsicana and Navarro county

PIONEER RESIDENT OF CORSICANA DIES FRIDAY MORNING

Mrs. Susan E. Hart, aged 83 years, perhaps the oldest living native of Corsicana, died at her home, 706 South Nineteenth street and the funeral will be held from the family home Saturday afternoon at 2:30 o'clock with inter-services will be conducted by Rev.

R. A. Crosby, pastor of the Eleventh Avenue Methodist church.

Mrs. Hart had resided at 706 South Nineteenth street for more than 55 years, less than a mile from where she was born.
Surviving are three daughters,
Mrs. R. C. Sizemore, Mrs. J. D.
Blackmon and Mrs. F. Garvin; four sons, W. H. Hart, Jim B. Hart, Herbert Hart and Jesse Hart, all of Corsicana; nine grandchildren; and a sister, Mrs. W. F.
Pryor, Ennis; and a number of other relatives. She was a sister of the late Jimmy Hamilton.

The funeral will be directed by the Sutherland-McCammon funeral home for.

The following will be pallbearers: Guy Hamilton, Sid Story, J.
M. Pugh, Clifford Pryor, John Young, and Dick Pickens.

Mrs. Hart was the daughter of Wm. Hamilton and wife, pioneer settlers of Navarro county, the family homestead being just southwest of Corsicana. It was there that Mrs. Hart was born and she has resided within a few miles of her birthplace all her life. Her husband, the late S. L.
Hart, was a teaming contractor for many years and aided in the construction of several Texas railroads with his teams and men.
She was a home-loving person and practically all her life remained close to her home and for the last several years as age caught upon her she seldom left her home.

MINORITY MEMBERS OF SUB-COMMITTEE FAVOR BANKHEAD

WASHINGTON, March 13.—(AP)
—The election of John H. Bankhead as democratic senator from Alabama, in 1930, was held today in a minority report to the senate elections committee to have been a "full, free and fair expression" of the will of the voters.
The report, submitted by the two democratic members of the sub-committee which considered the contest against Bankhead's seat, sharply challenged the findings of the committee majority that Bankhead was not legally elected.

The democrats, George of Geo-gia and Bratton of New Mexico, took issue with the republican contention that Bankhead was nominated illegally as well as the charge that widespread violations of law made his election fraudulent.
They said the senate had no jurisdiction over the primary and that to overturn the expression of popular will because of irregularities would be "the subordination of popular government to highly technical considerations."
A meeting of the full elections committee is to be held soon to consider the two sub-committee reports which were voted along strictly party lines by the three republican and two democrats ordered to consider the contest, brought by former Senator J.
Thomas Heflin, whom Bankhead defeated.

MORE EYEBROW TREATMENTS

We usually talk about scraggy or very thick or very untidy eyebrows when we are discussing them at all in this space. For most women these days want to have thinner eyebrows than the natural average. But there is the other problem—the woman who hasn't any eyebrows at all to speak of, and who wants better ones to bring out her eyes to their fullest beauty.

There are a lot of things she can do. She can wrap a bit of cotton around the end of an orangewood stick, dip this in hair tonic and run it along each eyebrow. This feeds tonic into the roots of the hair, but the supply of tonic is so controlled that it will not run over into a line outside the natural eyebrow line. Therefore, it won't induce hair to grow beyond this arch. This is a much better way to use an eye-brow grower than to spread on the cream tonics by hand.

Some of the eyebrow and eyelash tonics come with darkening in them. I do not advise these for the lashes; there is too much danger of getting the stuff into the eyes, which would be painful, even when the darkener is harmless. But these are splendid for the eyebrows, since they darken as well as nourish. Again, I think that an orangewood stick is the ideal way to apply them, either using a little cotton around the stick or just the wood, whichever you find easier.

There are regular dyes for eyebrows and brows. Never use any of these things on the lashes, but dye your eyebrows, if you wish. Be sure that you make a good job of it—each hair must be touched up, yet the color must not go on the skin. If you can afford it, have a shop to do this for you. And use a lot of oil on the eyebrows, since the coloring is probably very drying.

An easy home treatment is castor oil, which is a tonic, nourishing to the hairs, and also slightly darkening.

Miss K. C.—There is nothing better for the skin than a stimulating cold rinse, and if you do this every day following a bath or a massage, you should have no need for astringents.

This is for scanty eyebrows

Mrs. B. E.—The Russian mineral oil you have may be used in any way that any other mineral oil is used. If you care to make up a cleansing cream, this oil will answer very well for it. If you need a formula, I shall be glad to send you one on receipt of a self-addressed, stamped envelope for mailing.

Katharine F.—Instead of the cream, try camphor ice and apply it to the spots on your face that chap. Cover them each time before you go out in the cold wind.

PRESIDENT REPORTS
FINANCIAL STRESS
RAILWAYS LESSCOORDINATED PLAN FOR RELIEF IS REPORTED TO HAVE BEEN FORMED

WASHINGTON, Mar. 19. (P)—President Hoover, in a formal statement, today reported the financial necessities of the nation's important rail carriers were less than at first thought, and that a co-ordinated plan of relief had been formed.

The president estimated the aid required in meeting the interest and renewal of railway securities, together with their other obligations during 1932, at $300,000,000 to $400,000,000. Estimating that as much as $60,000,000 might be provided by the Railway Credit Corporation, the president stated "recourse to the reconstruction corporation by the railroads will be much less than was originally thought."

Commenting on the series of railway conferences climaxed by one at the White House late yesterday with 15 outstanding railway chiefs, Mr. Hoover said "the co-ordination of programs and policies has been arrived at by the government and the railway agencies to effect a meeting of the situation."

The president, in his statement said: "I have held a number of conferences for survey of the railway situation and for determination of general policies in respect to the railroads. The elements in these conferences are the directors and heads of staff of the reconstruction finance corporation, members of the interstate commerce commission dealing with these problems, and representatives of the Railway Credit Corporation."

Not So Large as Feared. "Examination of the financial problem confronting the railroads shows that it is of smaller dimensions than has been generally believed or reported."

It is estimated that the financial necessities of the country which are likely to require aid in meeting the interest and renewal of their maturing securities, and in the interest of the railroads during 1932, will be from $300,000,000 to $400,000,000.

"Of this amount the Railway Credit Corporation will provide a relief of $60,000,000 to $80,000,000 and it is assumed that many bank loans will be continued in the normal way."

"Therefore recourse to the Reconstruction Corporation by the railroads will be much less than was originally thought and even the mentioned amounts would be diminished by revival of the bond market and the placing of bond renewals in the market."

Co-Ordinate Relief. "The problem is to handle the situation as a whole so as to lay the foundations for restored employment of the country and through their purchase of supplies, and at the same time to establish confidence in the security of the bonds which are the reliance of great trustee institutions of the United States and in fact the property of the entire people."

"The end to be attained is, therefore, one of increased employment, increased confidence in the stability in the financial structure of the country on the other."

"The co-ordination of programs and policies has been arrived at by the government and the railway agencies to effect these results."

Investors in Rail
Stocks Told Hold On

NEW YORK, March 19. (P)—While railway earnings are at their lowest levels in more than a decade and many investors have been selling railroad stocks and bonds, there are many railroad men and their bankers who refuse to become discouraged.

Executives of one widely-known banking house which has specialized in railroad securities since they were introduced to the American investor, today have advised its clients to hold on. The five leading insurance companies of this country actually increased their holdings of railroad bonds during 1931.

Net earnings of the class 1 carries declined 36 per cent in January as compared with January, 1930. The totals were $45,900,000 and $72,000,000 respectively.

A compilation by the financial chronicler covering January earnings of railroads for 27 years shows that gross earnings of $274,000,000 were reported by the railroads in January, 1916, when the total was $267,000,000. Net earnings of $45,900,000 were the smallest for that month since January, 1921, when the total was $28,400,000.

These totals contrast with the booming figures recorded in January from 1925 to 1930 when gross earnings ranged from $640,000,000 to $480,000,000 and net earnings ranged from $85,000,000 to a high of $117,700,000.

In holding to their ground that the railroads will come back strongly, railroad bankers say that never in the history of the industry have there been more than a two-year period of depression without recovering to higher levels than ever before.

FARMERS EVENING SCHOOL AT KERENS FRIDAY EVENING

KERENS, March 21.—(Spl.)—Forty farmers and farm boys sat in a farmers evening school meeting Friday night, March 18th to discuss problems of meeting the changing conditions in farming at Kerens by reducing cotton acreage and finding suitable crops and uses of crops for the land to be taken from cotton growing.

It was found at the meeting that a reasonable expectation in labor income from cotton per acre was $3.33 for this year while land growing feed for to hogs would bring nearly $5.00 per acre labor income, land planted to feed fed to hogs would bring a labor income of about $14.00 per acre, and for dairy cows fed feed grown at Kerens the returns was about the same per acre as for cotton.

H. C. Dedford reported progress in turning to laying hens instead of cotton, F. L. Bray reported progress in turning to feed to feed hogs instead of growing cotton.

V. N. Crowley stated that he was getting ready to do lots of growing of feed and food for his stock and family this year, and H. W. Greenwood remarked that he had never seen too much feed but that he was doing all he could to get that way this year on his farm.

These were reports received at the close of the meeting on progress of members in putting over the program of the meetings. Henton, teacher of the vocational agriculture presided at the meeting.

Penitentiary Agent Here Saturday Night With Sixteen Men

Bud Russell, veteran penitentiary transfer agent, spent Saturday night at the Navarro county jail. He was conveying 16 white men from northwest Texas points to the penitentiary at Huntsville and resumed his journey Sunday morning. No prisoners were taken from Navarro although a number are awaiting transfer.

The men in the custody of Russell were gathered at Amarillo, Quahar, Wichita Falls and other points in that section, and some had been in county jails for 16 months awaiting transfer to the penitentiary.

This was one of the few times that members of prisoners have been kept here en route to the penitentiary were of the same color, the general rule being that there are both whites and blacks.

DAMAGE TO FRUIT IN MALAKOFF AREA STILL UNDECIDED

MALAKOFF, March 21.—(Spl.)—Although it is known that the fruit crop of this county was badly damaged by the recent freeze, and cold, it is impossible at this time to tell just the extent of the damage, and some say it can not be told until up about the first of May. Until the little fruit drops from the trees after being frozen or damaged by cold.

Owing to the continued rains and cold weather, very little of the corn and other crops of the county had been planted and there is some of the land still unbroken. Many of the gardens have been planted over since the freeze as much of the stuff was killed or ruined by the frosts and cold weather.
